Employment Officials to Begin Survey of Unemployed Families

Unemployed residents of Torrance and the South Bay area, Friday will begin participating in the most comprehensive research project ever undertaken in the field of unemployment insurance, Murray Love, manager of the Torrance office of the State Department of Employment said yesterday.

"We, and other public employment offices all over the country, are cooperating with the Bureau of Employment Security of the U.S. Department of Labor in a study of the personal and economic characteristics, work history and unemployment of persons receiving benefits under the Federal Temporary Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1961.

"It is expected that the information gathered will help measure how effectively the temporary extended unemployment compensation program, as well as state and federal unemployment insurance laws in general, are meeting their objectives," Love said.

THE RESEARCH project, he continued, is required by the same federal law under which extended unemployment insurance benefits at present are being paid. Beginning Friday morning, a group of TEC claimants, selected at random, will be asked to complete a "Family Characteristics Study" questionnaire. This will request answers to questions not asked at regular unemployment insurance interviews.

These special questions deal with the claimants' marital status, the number of dependents in the family, other wage earners in the family, pensions received, if any, and work and unemployment experience recently.

"THIS IS AN exceedingly important study, and the accuracy of final results depends on the willing participation of each claimant asked to complete the questionnaire," Love said.

All information obtained will be held in strict confidence as law requires. Information obtained will not under any circumstances be revealed in any way which will enable the individual claimant to be identified.

"The answers will be grouped and published as totals for each state and for the nation in the effort to find out more information regarding persons receiving temporary unemployment benefits," he said.

Riviera Scouts Plan Breakfast Here on May 20

Hollywood Riviera Sportsman Club will sponsor the second annual Pancake Breakfast of Boy Scouts of Area Nine in cooperation with Von's Market, Pacific Coast Hwy. and Calle Mayor, May 20.

The breakfast is slated from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. in Von's parking lot.

Boy Scouts of Area Nine are selling tickets to the event for 50¢ per person.

In addition to breakfast, a portable T.V., transistor radios, and other valuable prizes will be awarded during the morning.

General Telephone Co. will have an exhibit in the parking lot, and will offer a chance or someone to call anyone in the United States free of cost at half-hour intervals.

Co-chairmen for the event are Bob Surber and Ted McLane.

Bill Seeks to Reduce 'No Show,' Overselling of Airline Tickets

By CHARLES E. CHAPEL
Assemblyman, 46th District
On April 20, I introduced my Assembly Bill No. 2816, which was assigned to be heard by the Assembly Committee on Public Utilities and Corporations, of which I am a member. The bill adds Section 21416 to the Public Utilities Code, relating to the sale of airline tickets, and reads as follows:

Section 1. Section 21416 is added to the Public Utilities Code to read:

"21416. (a) Any person who purchases or reserves an airline ticket for an intrastate flight within the boundaries of this State shall forfeit the price of the ticket to the airline which was to carry that person unless such person furnishes the airline with a written notice of his cancellation at least 72 hours prior to the scheduled flight departure time.

"(b) If an airline sells an airline ticket to any person for an intrastate flight within the boundaries of this State and there is no seat available for such person, in addition to any other liability which the airline may be under, the airline shall pay to that person twice the cost of the ticket."

THE AIRLINES are constantly complaining in press releases and in their own publications which they place on their airplanes that there are too many "no shows", meaning people who buy tickets, fail to use them, and then obtain refunds. The airlines point out that the "no shows" cost them a vast amount of money, cause them to fly airplanes with many empty seats, and deprive people who want to go on such flights an opportunity to make firm reservations a reasonable time in advance of the flights.

The flying public complains that the airlines oversell their flights. I personally know this to be true because on several occasions I have bought tickets, made firm reservations far in advance, and then found that if I was not near the head of the line waiting to board an airplane, I was left on the ground. Furthermore, the airlines themselves have repeatedly admitted in their publications and press releases that they deliberately oversell flights in an effort to offset the "no shows".

INTRODUCING Assembly Bill No. 2816 was entirely my own idea. Although I have received many complaints from airline passengers about oversold flights, none of the complaints offered any specific solution.

Since I introduced the bill, many people who use airlines constantly have told me that they like section "b" of my bill, which makes the airline pay twice the price of the ticket, in addition to being liable for lawsuits under the existing laws, when a ticket is sold without the passenger being given a seat on the airplane for which the reservation was made.

THE ONLY complaints about the which I have received were from people who object to giving the airline written notice of cancellation 72 hours in advance of the flight. Several have suggested that they would support the bill if I amend it to read six hours notice in advance, made in person or by telephone.

The airlines are already subject to damage suits under existing laws, as I stated above. If we enact a law placing an additional penalty on them for overselling a flight, then in simple justice we must offset this by penalizing the "no shows." Therefore, the bill must have two sections, one placing the additional penalty on the airline and the other placing a penalty on unreasonable "no shows."

I WOULD like to have every one interested in this bill send me specific comments or nit, addressing the letter or postal card to me at Room 4001, State Capitol, Sacramento 14. If you like the bill the way it is, please say so. If you want it changed, please specify the exact language you want in the bill.

Also, please tell me if you or any of your family are employed by an airline or a travel agency, or if you are an airline customer and have no direct or indirect connection with an airline.

Finally, if the airlines simply oppose this bill without offering constructive suggestions for amending it, they should cease complaining about "no show" airline passengers.
